HEALTHCARE VS. FINANCE "THROWDOWN"
2019

Courtney Delgoffe

Courtney Delgoffe is an Associate Consultant for Velatura, a subsidiary of the Michigan Health Information Network Shared Services (MiHIN). Courtney has multiple responsibilities focused on community development and increasing the visibility of Velatura services and capabilities, each working to improve the exchange of health information around the country. Courtney supports documenting data process flows through health information networks, investigating requirements for functional improvements, and developing enhancements for technical services. She also creates materials for product development by identifying operational, market, and environmental impacts around health information.

Courtney serves as a key resource for various Health IT projects in Velatura and MiHIN, including implementation of health information exchange (HIE) services; Connectathons, Interoperability Land™ (IOL), and training materials. Courtney graduated from Michigan State University with a Bachelor of Science in Interdisciplinary Studies- Health and Society.
